

Can I use my child's NDIS plan to fund Parent Training?

The answer is most likely YES!

The NDIS recognises the importance of training and has a specific line item for it.

It's called Carer/Parent Training (pg 92 of the pricing arrangements). It comes under 'Other Supports' but bills to your Capacity Building - Improved Daily Living (therapy) budget.

Carer/Parent Training does not need to be itemised in your child's plan.

You also don't need an Autism diagnosis.

Most planners don't think to specifically include it in your child's plan. It's your Choice and Control if you choose to access parent training.

NDIS eligibility always refers to these 3 criteria;

✓ Reasonable & Necessary

We are a mental health improvement program designed specifically to support you and your autistic child. This is a reasonable and necessary service.

✓ Good Value For Money

You have unlimited access to hundreds of hours of expert training and lifetime access to our counselling services. We are extremely good value for money.

✓ Works towards the participants goals

We work towards emotional regulation, behaviour and mental health improvements goals. As long as you have one of these in your plan you're set.

So as long as you are:

1

Plan or Self Managed

You must be Plan or Self Managed. We cannot bill to Agency (NDIA) Managed Plans.

2

Funds in Capacity Building

We bill to the Capacity Building Improved Daily Living (therapy) section.

3

Goal

A goal in your child's plan similar to emotional regulation, mental health or a behavioural goal.

You can confidently enrol in our Autism Parenting Training Program.

98% of parents join using their child's NDIS plan.

Our Guarantee:

If you enrol in the program and for any reason your child's plan is not eligible to fund the program we will void your invoice. No cost to you.

We are here to relieve stress not create more!

We meet all requirements to deliver our service under line item #15_038_0117_1_3

If you have any questions or would like us to check your plan please don't hesitate to contact us. 1300 948 608